

Governor Cuomo Highlights Success of Buy NY Program at State Correctional Facilities

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo recently highlighted the successes of the Buy NY program which increased procurement of local, New York State foods in state facilities and support the state's agricultural economy. As a result of the program, first introduced in 2014 at the Farm to Table Upstate-Downstate Agricultural Summit, the Department of Corrections and Community Supervision has significantly increased its purchase of New York State products. The agency has replaced several out-of-state products on its menu and spent more than $1.8 million to purchase New York State-grown and produced food and beverages such as apples, potatoes, beans, yogurt, ice cream and milk.
