

Corrections and Community Supervision

Son of Bare Hill Correctional Facility Vocational Instructor Receives Susan M. Hunter Correctional Scholarship

Congratulations to Adam Branch, son of Jeffrey Branch, Vocational Instructor at Bare Hill Correctional Facility for being one of the recipients of the 2017 Susan M. Hunter Correctional Scholarship. The scholarship is named in honor of Susan Hunter, former Chief of the Prisons Division at the National Institute of Corrections, as a lasting tribute to her commitment to the field of Corrections. Adam was one of twenty-eight recipients nationwide, and the only recipient in New York State. He received a $1,500 scholarship and is currently attending Siena College majoring in Biochemistry. Assistant Commissioner Mary Vann presented the award to Jeffrey Branch who accepted on his son's behalf.

From left to right: Superintendent Bruce Yelich, DSP Stan Barton, Vocational Instructor Jeffrey Branch, Assistant Commissioner Mary Vann, Vocational Supervisor Tammy White, DSA Debbie Kemp, DSS Daniel Phelix.