

Eastern Correctional Facility Hosts Eighth Intercollegiate Debate

The Bard Prison Initiative (BPI) Debate Union recently hosted Morehouse College at Eastern Correctional Facility for BPI's eighth intercollegiate debate. The topic: race-based affirmative action in college and university admissions should be eliminated. Bard defended this proposition while Morehouse opposed in what was a very well-matched debate between the two teams. Ultimately, in a very narrow decision, the Bard students were deemed the winners, bringing their record to 6-2. The students from Bard and Morehouse enjoyed the opportunity to debate and hope to have another chance to do so in the future.

