

Parole Officer Valerio Receives Recognition

Parole Officer Valerio, of Manhattan, recently was named the 2018 Fay Honey Kopp Award recipient.

The award, handed out annually, recognizes the work of individuals studying, volunteering, or working in the field of sexual abuse treatment or sexual abuse research.

Parole Officer Valerio was selected because of “in recognition of your work to promote community safety through your dedication as a NYS Parole Officer and your individualized approach to assisting high risk individuals to re-enter the community and maintain safe behaviors”.

Congratulations to Parole Officer Valerio on this award.