Nonviolence Group Closes Out Season

By: YNN Staff

A local group closes out its season of nonviolence Thursday.

It's been a three month effort by the MK Ghandi Institute to work against violence in Rochester.

Civic leaders and community members have looked at various ways to create peace in the city.

The effort kicked off at the Liberty Pole, with people pledging to practice non violence.

As part of the evening's closing ceremony, inmates at the Groveland Correctional Facility in Livingston County will present a check to the Rochester Police Department to support its gun buyback program.
