WARSAW, N.Y. (WIVB) – Police responded to Attica Correctional Facility Monday after learning that a man was attempting to smuggle drugs into the prison.

New York State Troopers arrested Justin A. Bouldin, 38, after saying they learned he attempted to smuggle two packages of marijuana and the painkiller suboxone into the high security prison.

Bouldin was charged with first degree promoting prison contraband, fifth degree criminal possession of a controlled substance — two class D felonies. He was also charged with two misdemeanors.

He'll return to court at a later date. He's currently in the Wyoming County Jail in lieu of $25,000.
